The Fundamental Principles adopted by the Principalities adherents to the Antarctic Lands Organization

The Nation Antarcticland in order to promote justice; freedom; equality among peoples; the international security; the environmental preservation of the Universe, Antarctic and particularly of the Antarctic Lands, and the blessing of their citizens, in the exercise of its sovereignty, dictates the Ten Basic Principles and Guidelines of Antarcticland's Magna Carta adopted by the Antarctic Lands Organization.

1. Secure coexistence between peoples and an economic, social, and fair order.
2. Protect citizens of the Antarctic, human rights, their cultures, traditions, languages, and institutions.
3. Promote the progress of culture and the economy to ensure all citizens a decent quality of life.
4. Work for the strengthening of peaceful relations and fruitful cooperation between all the peoples of the earth.
5. Promote effective actions for the protection and preservation of the planet cooperating with united spirit for the conservation and protection and integrity of the medium environment of Antarcticland taking responsibility with actions aimed at sustainable development of environmental resources of the ecosystem of Antarcticland, the Antarctic and of the Universe.

6. Promote principles and pluralist and democratic foundations rejecting any form of totalitarianism and imperialism.
7. Defend the equality of all nations and peoples and their inalienable right to self-determination.
8. Condemn any manifestations of religious, cultural, political, and ethnic intolerance.
9. Reject terrorism and war as a means of asserting one's ideology of subjugation of other peoples and as a means of resolving national and international disputes.
10. Serve as a model for a new state tax-free and eco-sustainable.
